

UOIT makes its Maclean's rankings debut and it's a strong start

DURHAM -- In its first year ranked by Maclean's, the University of Ontario Institute of Technology finished right in the middle.

The Oshawa post-secondary school, which is ranked in the primarily undergraduate group, made a "strong debut" according to the magazine. Along with coming in for overall performance at 12 out of 22 institutions, UOIT also grabbed some top finishes in individual categories.

<http://www.newsdurhamregion.com/article/139674>