

New Cadillac could help create 1,000 new jobs in Oshawa

OSHAWA -- General Motors will build a replacement for the Chevrolet Impala and produce a Cadillac sedan at its Oshawa car complex, creating up to 1,000 new jobs during the next few years, industry officials say.

The Automotive Parts Manufacturers' Association revealed Tuesday in a "critical automotive intelligence" note to member companies that GM will start producing a newer Impala or its replacement vehicle in February 2013, and the Cadillac XTS sedan in January 2012 in Oshawa.
